

New York family

October 2, 2013

Step By Step

New York City's bursting with excellent dance programs. We asked some talented young dancers (and their teachers) to give us a peek at the magic.

By Mia Weber.

THE SCHOOL AT STEPS

“My inspiration comes from the possibility to become a professional dancer and having my career be something I love so much.” Nicole Battaglia, 12

“As a teacher, I try to create a personal relationship with my students. I want to know who they are, not just how they do their dance steps.” Ashley Tuttle, ballet instructor

Photo by Karen Haberberg